

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an apparatus and method of speech recognition, where there are the same names, a recognition system side creates the keyword for limiting the plurality of names and inquires a user, and in response to the inquiry, the user announces a keyword, thereby executing limiting processing. Because of such a configuration, a single desired spot name can be finally specified easily.